Legal Affairs and Community Safety Committee
Queensland Parliament

Dear Committee Secretary,

Re: INQUIRY INTO A POSSIBLE HUMAN RIGHTS ACT FOR QUEENSLAND

The Australian Privacy Foundation (APF) is the country's leading privacy advocacy organisation. A brief backgrounder is attached.

APF notes the publication of Report No. 30, 'Inquiry into a possible Human Rights Act for Queensland' by the 55th Parliament Legal Affairs and Community Safety Committee in June 2016.

APF is aware that the consultation period has now closed. However, having missed the consultation period, we still wanted to provide our support and endorsement for human rights legislation being enacted in Queensland.

In particular, APF is pleased to see that the Committee's Government members endorsed enacting human rights in Queensland, and specifically recommended in Recommendation 5 that at a minimum the legislation should include 'a right to privacy and reputation'. We add our strong support to this recommendation for a right to privacy to be included in human rights legislation enacted in Queensland.

We are happy to be contacted to discuss these issues further.

Thank you for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Angela Daly
Member of APF Board of Directors

Background Information

The Australian Privacy Foundation (APF) is the primary national association dedicated to protecting the privacy rights of Australians. The Foundation aims to focus public attention on emerging issues that pose a threat to the freedom and privacy of Australians. The Foundation has led the fight to defend the right of individuals to control their personal information and to be free of excessive intrusions.

The APF's primary activity is analysis of the privacy impact of systems and proposals for new systems. It makes frequent submissions to parliamentary committees and government agencies. It publishes information on privacy laws and privacy issues. It provides continual background briefings to the media on privacy-related matters.

Where possible, the APF cooperates with and supports privacy oversight agencies, but it is entirely independent of the agencies that administer privacy legislation, and regrettably often finds it necessary to be critical of their performance.

When necessary, the APF conducts campaigns for or against specific proposals. It works with civil liberties councils, consumer organisations, professional associations and other community groups as appropriate to the circumstances. The Privacy Foundation is also an active participant in Privacy International, the world-wide privacy protection network.

The APF is open to membership by individuals and organisations who support the APF's Objects. Funding that is provided by members and donors is used to run the Foundation and to support its activities including research, campaigns and awards events.

The APF does not claim any right to formally represent the public as a whole, nor to formally represent any particular population segment, and it accordingly makes no public declarations about its membership-base. The APF's contributions to policy are based on the expertise of the members of its Board, SubCommittees and Reference Groups, and its impact reflects the quality of the evidence, analysis and arguments that its contributions contain.

The APF's Board, SubCommittees and Reference Groups comprise professionals who bring to their work deep experience in privacy, information technology and the law.

The Board is supported by Patrons The Hon Michael Kirby AC CMG and The Hon Elizabeth Evatt AC, and an Advisory Panel of eminent citizens, including former judges, former Ministers of the Crown, and a former Prime Minister.
